LEAVES OF ABSENCE ARE Says Belgians Do Not Appreciate Good Work Germans Are Doing

Serlin, Germany, Nov. 18 -- Dr. Richand Bahr, who went to Belgium some time ago, has returned greatly aston shed, absolutely unable to understand what he has seen. When he left bere he expected to see a Belgian people gradually awakening and realizing the icssings of German rule. He was disbissings of German rule. He was disappointed.

The recting which inspires the Reislian beople is less pairiotism than a cold hostility commantly apprehent from new sources, he says.

"At the hotels you cannot sit down next to them without painfully realizing that lattred and dindain of you are seated at the tables. Guests listen to our conversation with an ironical smile and when they translate to their neighbors what we are saying it is never done without a strong trace of mockery. The Belgians do not give our German authorities, military as well as civil, the slightest credit for the splendid work they have accomplished in establishing hw and order in the country within a few months. German friends of mine who have lived in Beigium for years told me that people with whom they had associated in the most friendly and pleasant manner until the war broke out now refuse to recognize them on the street and do not even answer them when they speak to them. This is the case even at Antwerp, which owed its commercial prosperity almost entirely to its trade with Germany."
